REPORT of aggregate strength for duty, and names of Medical Officers present for duty, and the killed, wounded, and missing in the battle of.....on the..... day of.....1863, according to Regimental Reports, of the..... Division,.....Corps.

REGIMENTS.	Aggregate strength present for duty.	Names of Surgeons present for Duty.	Names of Assistant Surgeons present for Duty.	Number killed according to Regimental Report.	Number wounded according to Regimental Report.	Number missing according Regimental Report.
TOTAL.....

.....

TABULAR STATEMENT of Wounded in the Hospital of the....Division....Corps, Army of the Potomac, at the Battle of....., on the....day of....., 186 .

REGION OF BODY WOUNDED.		MISSILE OR WEAPON.						TOTAL.	OPERATIONS.			ANÆSTHETICS.		REMARKS.
		Cannon Ball.	Shell.	Ballet.	Sword.	Bayonet.	Other.		Amputations.	Exsections.	Other.	Given in.	Deaths from Head.....
	Face.....
	Neck.....
	Chest.....
	Abdomen.....
	Back and Spine.....
	Hips and Genitals..
	Shoulder.....
ARM.	Flesh Wound.....
	Fracture.....
	Elbow joint.....
FOREARM.	Flesh wound.....
	Fracture.....
	Wrist...
	Hand.....
	Hip joint.....
THIGH.	Flesh Wound
	Fracture, upper 8d..
	" mdle 8d..
	" lower 8d..
	Knee joint.....
LEG.	Flesh Wound.....
	Fracture.....
	Ankle joint Foot.....
INJURIES OF ARTERIES AND NERVES.

..... Surgeon-in Chief,
.....Division.....Corps.

NOTE.—This Statement will be transmitted by the Medical Directors of Corps to the Medical Director of the Army within three days after an engagement. No excuse will be received for [illegible] its transmittal within the time here directed,