

FIG. 151.—Twenty-four hours after direct application of standard droplet of crude mustard-gas liquid to the cornea. Extreme edema of conjunctiva, especially marked in upper lid and nictitating membrane. Seropurulent exudate.