

FIG. 162.—Five weeks after direct application of dichlorethylsulphide to cornea. Dosage about twice the size of the standard droplet. Lids not separated. Eye untreated. Resulting panophthalmitis with collapse of eyeball