

FIG. 48.—Japanese Arisaka rifle, model 1907, officially known as the "Thirty-eighth year model." Many of these rifles were sold by Japan to both Russia and England during the war and hence were in use in Europe