

FIG. 131.—This and Figures 132 and 133 show amputation of the thigh by the flapless method in various stages of healing under the influence of continuous extension. In this figure, the first stage, all possible extension of the skin flaps has been obtained with the result that the skin has turned in over the end of the stump