

Funding and Enrollment

1. The Aeromedical Psychology Training Course (APTC) is NOT centrally funded. Individuals interested in attending the APTC must obtain another source of funding, typically from the home unit. The one exception is for Active Duty Army psychologists who are TDY enroute. If you are an Active Duty Army psychologist and wish to attend the APTC TDY enroute, you must contact the Psychology consultant, the Psychology Career Manager at Human Resources Command, and the APTC course director to coordinate orders and central funding.
2. There is no cost for the APTC training. However, associated costs include transportation to and from Ft. Rucker, lodging for 20 nights at Ft. Rucker, and per diem for 20 days. Government meals are not available. Rental cars may be authorized at the discretion of the attendee`s command. Rental cars are not authorized for those who receive central funding, but individuals may obtain rental cars at their own expense.
3. All attendees must enroll in the Army Training and Requirements and Resources System (ATRRS). This is the Army`s official record of attendance in the course and the means by which the Army tracks availability of quotas within each course. Make sure you meet the pre-requisites before registering. The Course Number Listing is 6H- F27.
 - a. Active Duty Army attendees: Send a DA 3838 and a copy of your flight physical stamped medically "qualified" to the 73B career manager at HRC. This can be accomplished either by the officer applying for the course or by the unit training NCO.
 - b. Army Reserves attendees: contact your Unit Representatives and USARC for assistance.
 - c. Army National Guard attendees: reservations are acquired by contacting the State Representatives and the National Guard Bureau. Contact the APTC Course Director at 334-255-7425 for assistance, if needed. Be cognizant that the course requires attendance for the entire 3 weeks of training.
 - d. Air Force and Navy attendees: Contact your psychology consultant/manager.
 - e. United States Public Health Service attendees: contact the APTC Course Director at 334-255-7425 for assistance.
 - f. Civilian attendees: contact the APTC Course Director. Permission for civilians to register for the APTC is granted by the APTC Course Director based on space available.
 - g. International Students: Contact the AMEDDC&S registrar for assistance.
4. If you need to cancel your enrollment, please contact the AMEDDC&S Registrar`s office or the APTC Course Director as soon as possible.
